ACADEMIC REGULATIONS: ATTENDANCE NORMS & ELIGIBILITY

1. Minimum Attendance Requirement for Appearing in Examinations

As laid down under University of Mumbai Ordinance 6086 and NEP 2020 guidelines, regular attendance across all scheduled academic components is strictly compulsory.

What is the minimum attendance required to appear for exams? Every student registered in an undergraduate engineering program is required to maintain a minimum attendance of 75% in each individual theory subject, tutorial, and laboratory practical session throughout the semester.

- Attendance Calculation: Attendance percentage is calculated from the date of commencement of term until the last official instructional day.
- Monthly Defaulter Tracking: Defaulter lists are compiled and displayed on departmental notice boards on the 5th day of every calendar month.
- Parental Intimation: Automated SMS alerts and formal letters are dispatched to parents/guardians when cumulative attendance drops below 75%.

2. Defaulter Categories and Warning Tiers

- Category A (75% and Above): Satisfactory attendance status. The candidate is unconditionally eligible for term grant and all internal/external semester end examinations.
- Category B (60% to 74%): Caution status / First warning. Student along with parents must attend an academic counseling session with the class advisor and HOD.
- Category C (Below 60%): Critical defaulter. The candidate is in violation of Mumbai University rules and is liable to be debarred from writing exams.

3. Condonation of Attendance on Medical and Special Grounds

Under exceptional situations where a student's attendance falls between 60% and 74%, condonation of attendance shortage up to a maximum of 15% may be granted by the College Academic Committee subject to:

- Medical Illness Condonation: Genuine hospitalization or severe illness verified by an authentic medical certificate signed by a registered medical practitioner (MBBS minimum) submitted within 7 working days of recovery.
- Institutional Representation: Prior written sanction from the Principal for representing Atharva College of Engineering or the University of Mumbai in recognized sports tournaments, technical hackathons, or youth festivals.

4. Debarment and Academic Consequences

Students whose final attendance remains strictly below 75% without authorized condonation will be officially debarred from taking the semester end theory and practical examinations.

A debarred student will not receive term grant for the respective semester and will be required to re-register as a repeater student during the following academic year, fulfilling all laboratory and lecture obligations anew.
